Introduction

Lalbaba College is a conglomeration of approximately four thousand students, nearly ninety teachers and around thirty non-teaching staff. It has grown into a seminary of modern learning over the years. The catchment area of the college includes its adjacent agricultural and industrialized region of the district of Howrah as also neighbouring agricultural belt of the district of Hooghly. Although initially conceived merely to promote higher education among the local youth, its hinterland of student input has increased immensely during the last decade. Students today rush here to materialize their dreams with regard to choice of subjects in higher education from distant areas connected by the Barddhaman Main and Chord lines and the Tarakeswar section of Eastern Railway and the Kharagpur section of South Eastern Railway. This is because of the fact that the college is located adjacent to Kolkata. It is just on the opposite bank of the river Hooghly next to Belur Math, the world famous monastic establishment founded by Swami Vivekananda. It is easily accessible by rail, only six kilometers journey from Howrah and fifteen kilometers from Sealdah. The nearest railway stations are Belur in the Howrah – Barddhaman Section, Belurmah in Howrah – Belurmah Section and Bally Ghat in the Sealdah – Dankuni Section of Eastern Railway. As the college is situated conveniently besides Grand Trunk Road, the facility of frequent bus services can also be availed of to reach the college. The inmates of the college provide a metropolitan and cosmopolitan outlook, as both Bengali and Hindi speaking families send their wards to this college. The college has no aristocratic aura since most of the students are from middle and lower-middle class families.

Founding of the College

In the 19th century, the locality of Bally and its adjacent areas had a number of good schools in which children from the local industrialists and aristocratic families attended. There was no institution for higher learning for common men in the locality, as a result higher education became a problem for many and they are to travel to Kolkata to get admitted. Lalbaba, a self-taught Haryana born ascetic of the Udasin sect of the Sikh Panth, resided at the locality. He was the guru of an industrialist family, to whom he advised about the foundation of an institution of higher learning for the local children. This saint has varied and often amazing experiences of life insisted on “diffusion of education to enable individual to develop their innate abilities, to adjust successfully with the environment and to realize their best self.”

This idea took some concrete shape after his demise when some of his disciples founded the Lalbaba Trust to perpetuate the sacred memory of this great sage. It took the lead to establish a collegiate educational complex (consisting of a school, college and ashrama) to impart his views, “where along with University curriculum sincere efforts should be made to enable the learners to think clearly and act rightly with an ultimate aim of social progress through manifestation of perfection inherent in man”.

As a part of this collegiate educational complex, the Lalbaba Trust supported by some social workers of the locality established the college in 1964. It was affiliated to the University of Calcutta to provide education at the undergraduate level to the local students. At the time of foundation, the Lalbaba Trust was responsible for running the entire complex consisting of the school and asrama apart from the college. However, over the years the college governing body has become independent and is no more run by the Trust.

The college started its journey in an old building located adjacent to the present complex with B.A. and B.Com Pass courses. Honours courses were initially introduced in Bengali and Accountancy. Over the years, the college gradually expanded and introduced a number of Honours courses and a full-fledged Science stream. Currently the college provides Honours Courses in twelve subjects.

Missions of the College

The college is committed to provide education at the undergraduate level to the nearby students. Irrespective of caste, class, creed, religious affiliation or gender, it aims at providing generous scope for higher education to the local youth. Teaching Learning Evaluation

Student-Centred Teaching-Learning

The college desires to create an environment of student-centred model of teaching-learning and hence, encourages interactive teaching and learning process. A wide variety of student-centred learning methods are used apart from conventional lectures, such as, interactive participation of students through questions and answers, blackboard use by students, group discussions, group problem-solving, impromptu class presentations, short quizzing, role-playing etc. Assignments are given to the students as homework, which serves to build a strong foundation for the learner-dominated model. Depending upon the nature of the subject, fieldworks, study tours, project works and dissertations, use of basic e-classroom devices are also incorporated. The college also supplements the curriculum with seminar lectures both utilizing internal and external faculty.

Students are to note that as per Calcutta University Examination guidelines, appearing at these Examinations is mandatory for a candidate to be eligible for appearing at the B.A./B.Sc./B.Com. Final Examination organized by the University as a regular candidate.

Students are to score at least 35% marks in aggregate and 30% in each paper at the Honours level to get pass in a qualifying college examination and become eligible for University Examination. At the General level these figures will be 30% and 25% respectively.

Continuous Evaluation

The college adopts continuous evaluation method for academic monitoring of the students. Frequent written tests organized by the departments covering all the three batches of students form the backbone of continuous evaluation method. Besides, the college arranges Mid-Term Examination and Test Examinations. In all these written examinations students' knowledge is assessed through numerical marking system. As part of continuous evaluation, regular assignments are given and relevant questions are thrown in the class and the students are asked to respond.

THE COLLEGE WILL UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES RELAX THESE RULES FRAMED BY THE UNIVERSITY AT THE TIME OF RECOMMENDING THE STUDENTS FOR FINAL EXAMINATION AS REGULAR CANDIDATES.

Unsuccessful students of the University Examinations may get themselves admitted as casual students if they desire to appear in their respective examination for the second time. Payment of usual charges as decided by the University is to be made accordingly.

Tutorials for the Disadvantaged

Most of the teachers take at least one class per week as 'tutorial' for the educationally disadvantaged students identified by the continuous evaluation method and provide intensive coaching to them in which:

- ✓ concepts are clarified in more details;
- ✓ reference materials are identified;
- ✓ extra learning materials are provided, if possible; and
- ✓ tips for answering questions in examinations are offered.

Academic and Personal Counselling

Teachers of the college mainly in an informal setting often do participate in academic and personal counselling covering:

- ✓ the choice of subjects;
- ✓ the development and use of effective study skills and how to improve proficiency;
- ✓ the scheme of University examinations in which they are required to appear and how to perform well in those;
- ✓ the importance of participating in games and sports, cultural activities and other extra-curricular activities for the all-round development of personality;

- ✓ preparation for higher studies and available postgraduate options and such other career-counselling;
- ✓ the available vocational courses and employment opportunities; and finally
- ✓ the clarification of personal values and goals.

Attendance of Students

Students are required to attend at least 75% of the class lectures delivered for becoming eligible to appear before the Calcutta University Examinations as a regular candidate. Percentage calculation of the attendance of individual students is done on monthly basis and displayed at the notice board to monitor the performance of students with poor attendance and disciplinary actions are taken against them.

THE COLLEGE WILL UNDER NO CIRCUMSTANCES RELAX THESE RULES FRAMED BY THE UNIVERSITY AT THE TIME OF RECOMMENDING THE STUDENTS FOR FINAL EXAMINATION AS REGULAR CANDIDATES.

Teachers of the departments meet the guardians of the academically backward students to find out whether the guardians are aware of the dismal educational performance and or poor attendance record of their wards. They together try to find out the cause behind it and also the ways of eradication of the same.

students to participate in various extension activities.
