TESTIMONIALS

Debolina Datta
2012 Batch

“ I had about 20 years of work experience when I enrolled for my FPM (I) program at IIM, Indore in 2012. The motivation to do the FPM program came from a wish to pay forward my learnings in industry (and life) to the new generations entering the workforce and to hopefully touch a few lives, the way that some of my faculty at my B-School had transformed mine. Today, as I continue my journey within industry, the academic focus remains strong and feeds my growth at work. My passion towards research continues to keep me curious and an eternal student for life. For this, I have this wonderful institution to thank and I will remain eternally grateful for the learning and experience I have received during my FPM (I) course work. ”

“ Fellow Program in Management (Industry) at IIM Indore is a unique platform for experienced professionals for developing academic & industrial research. Besides having top notch faculties and a world class Infrastructure, what sets them apart is the desire of entire IIMI fraternity to help a research student. Maintaining the scientific rigour and established processes of a doctoral program, faculty gives freedom to a doctoral student to conceptualize and develop research in their own area of Interest. This fosters the requisite skills to build their own future path. ”

Successful completion of this course gave me an opportunity to work with several reputed organisations. The flexibility of the course gave me opportunity to continue my course work alongside my service. As the programme was designed for working professionals, it gave me opportunity for interactions with other students from different streams and broaden my knowledge horizon. ”

“ I am really thankful to IIM Indore for instituting such an Industry oriented program. The program offered me exposure to the intricacies of academic research. The professors who taught us were supportive and offered their full dedication in training us becoming a scholar. The academia of management realized the need for practitioners oriented teaching. Many globally reputed institutes including many IIMs, are turning to Professor of Practice track. I am sure this Executive Fellow Programme in Management will fill that vacuum. The program can be a sharpener of research skills for the industry professional who are in consulting and research organizations in the mid-career progression. A valuable experience, the program honed my research skills, which turned me into a full-time academic career. An offered a new dimension to my consulting assignment. A contextually relevant program, thanks to IIM Indore, for providing me an opportunity. ”

“ The doctoral program gave me an opportunity to delve deeper, a framework to uncover insights, organize it in line with existing knowledge, and to enhance it in possible ways and in an acceptable manner. It offered me a ticket to academia, get invited as a visiting prof by esteemed institutions like IIM Raipur, NMIMS, IIM Rohtak and KIAMS. I cannot express my gratitude enough in words, to my professors, TAC members, and my guide and mentor, Prof. Jay sir. “ The EFPM at IIM Indore, leading to a Ph.D., introduced me to Management Research and Mathematical modelling. From the very beginning, my Thesis committee encouraged me to think deeply about the problems I saw in the Industry I came from and frame them so that the insights from studying them could be generalized. In addition, the Chairman of my Thesis committee was incredibly patient as he went through multiple drafts of my novice research papers, providing amazingly insightful pointers on improving. Furthermore, the requirement to publish at least one article in an international journal ensured my research was contemporary.

The coursework on campus ensured we spent time with world-class faculty on an amazingly verdant and well-equipped campus. I will always reminisce about the times spent on campus with fondness and nostalgia.

Not only has this exposure made me a more rounded personality, but it has also given me a new way of thinking about business problems. Finally, the EFPM journey enhanced my ability to balance multiple priorities simultaneously. I thank the Institute for developing this course for working professionals and providing a research-conducive atmosphere.
